

NAGC

Fall Conference & Webcast

on Children's Grief

NAGC'S half-day Webcast on Children Anticipating Death

November is Children's Grief Awareness Month. Join us for this Live Webcast on Children's Grief!

For Children's Grief Awareness Month, New Hope for Kids in collaboration with the National Alliance for Grieving Children will host a Fall Webcast on Children's Grief.

Ethical Considerations for Working with Children Anticipating a Death

The process of dying presents many challenges to individuals and families impacted by a life limited illness or terminal diagnosis. When children are present and part of the immediate situation, family members and professionals sometimes are at a loss as to how to connect with, involve, or talk to children about the realities of the situation.

This webcast will explore the ethical implications of supporting children who are anticipating the death of a parent, the death of a sibling, or their own death.

Our three presenters will provide practical information and advice for caring for children in the face of a terminal diagnosis. They will share information about how to talk to children about death, how to include children in rituals, and ways to offer support throughout the dying process.

Speakers:

Jeanine Clapsaddle, MA, LMFT, CCLS is a Certified Child Life Specialist and Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist with over 20 years' experience working with pediatric patients and their families, providing intervention and support throughout their course of medical care, transition to home and bereavement experiences. She currently serves as the Clinical Supervisor for the Child Life, Music Therapy and Healing Arts Program at Arnold Palmer Medical Center in Orlando, Florida.

Patti Anewalt, PhD, LPC, FT, has been with Hospice & Community Care for 22 years. As Director at the Pathways Center for Grief & Loss, Patti oversees a wide variety of bereavement services for adults, children and teens, serving over 5500 individuals a month. She oversees the Coping Kids & Teens program which provides individual and group support, school grief groups, grief and crisis response trainings in the schools and an overnight children's bereavement camp she started in 1996.

Taryn Schuelke, CCLS, CPMT is the Bereavement Specialist on the Palliative Care Service Team at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston, Texas where she specifically works with siblings anticipating a death.

Thursday, November 2, 2017

Ethical Considerations for Working with Children Anticipating a Death

Where: New Hope for Kids
544 Mayo Avenue, Maitland, FL 32751

Time: Noon – 5:00 pm EST
Cost: Free or $, additional $35 4.5 CEUs for Psychologists, Counselors, MFT's & Social Workers,

Parking: Parking is available on site.

Register: Seating is limited to 50 people
Please register by October 30, 2017.

If CEUs are required, go to www.newhopeforkids.org/donate and enter "webinar" in designated drop-down.

If CEUs are NOT required, call 407-331-3059 ext 10 or email information@newhopeforkids.org.

Questions: Contact us at 407-331-3059 ext. 10 or email information@newhopeforkids.org

In appreciation to our sponsors:

NEW YORK LIFE
FOUNDATION

